1 OBJECTIVE

The main objective of the final evaluation is to assess the achievements, impact, and identify lessons learned of the Integrated Support Project to MINECOFIN since its inception in 2006.

Information resulting from this evaluation will be used in the creation of future projects, proposals and inform management on issues to be addressed in design and implementation of future projects.

2 BACKGROUND

Since 2002, The Ministry of Finance and Economic Planning (MINECOFIN) has received separate project support from a number of donors, including UNDP, the African Development Bank, the European Commission, DFID and Belgian Cooperation. MINECOFIN is the lead ministry in a number of areas to implementation of national development programs, and donor engagement in Rwanda. These include among others, macroeconomic policy, public financial management and strategic planning around implementation of the PRSP.

The various projects often combined technical assistance, salary enhancements, and support for running costs, equipment and ad hoc studies. Hence, the projects were not adequately integrated with overall government structures, which contributed to creating distortions and resulted in capacity substitution rather than capacity building. In addition, it was perceived (a) that the projects were insufficiently aligned with government priorities, (b) lacked coherence and overall strategic guidance and (c) resulted in inefficiencies and duplications.

In order to address these issues, it was decided that the Ministry would produce a Strategic Plan including a three-year rolling strategic action plan, linked to the Medium Term Expenditure Framework (MTEF) for its implementation. The strategic plan would contain medium term strategic development objectives as well as a clear capacity building strategy for the Ministry, to be integrated with the overall public sector reform of the government and the World Bank’s capacity building initiative to be carried out by HIDA.

After three years of implementation, the project “Support for Poverty Reduction Strategy Implementation and Aid Coordination” ended in March 2005 after the achieving the following objectives: 1) In the area of PRS implementation: Capacities in the central and decentralised planning were strengthened. This was achieved through the training of planners in the preparation of strategic plans and development plans. 2) In the area of economic governance: transparent and accountable financial management mechanisms were put in place through the support to different departments in MINECOFIN. This include; Budget, Treasury, Public Finance, Auditing, ICT. Support to the Strategic Planning Unit was provided in the following areas: 1) In PRS development and implementation: production of the first PRS for Rwanda and the development and improvement of sector planning and annual progress reporting; 2) In MTEF development and implementation: introduction of the MTEF as the central element of budget reform, thus enabling more efficient allocation of resources against stated objectives and improving the efficiency of resource use and service delivery.
The aim of the Interim Support Project was to support the Ministry of Finance and Economic Planning in a coordinated way along with other development partners, while awaiting for the finalisation of the Strategic Plan for MINECOFIN, to continue providing support to MINECOFIN until end of 2005. The overall objective was to support MINECOFIN to develop a strategic framework to harmonize Ministry and donor activities from 2006 and to meet critical capacity building needs for MINECOFIN until end 2005.

The Integrated Support Project to the Ministry of Finance and Economic Planning (MINECOFIN) started in January 2006 and is still ongoing. The aim of this project is to support the implementation of MINECOFIN’s Strategic Development Plan and its expansion to adjacent institutions in view of the establishment of a SWAp for Economic Governance.

A Strategic Development Plan, sets out the most important “development” activities for 2006-2008, by Unit has now been finalized with the help of external consultants and was validated by the Ministry during a retreat held in December 2005.

The principles under which the Strategic Development Plan operates are the following:

a) All development assistance can be harmonized to provide support around a single comprehensive and explicit plan;

b) Flexible funding replaces “project” funding;

c) Aid administration is simplified.
