

MID TERM EVALUATION

Strengthening Accountability and Rule of Law (SARL)

Evaluation Terms of Reference

1. Background

The UNDP Country Programme (CPD 2018-2022) support the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and Sustainable Development Goals within the framework of addressing the challenges of multiple transitions in Myanmar. The current Country Programme is built on the achievements of the previous programme but represents a shift towards more integrated programming at the national and sub-national levels and support to United Nations-wide initiatives to better address the interlinkages between peacebuilding and social cohesion, governance, environment and natural resources management, resilience, urbanization and balanced and inclusive growth. This integrated approach is designed to break silos and strengthen horizontal linkages across state and non-state actors as well as vertical linkages across administrations at district, township, state and union level through area based programmes.

The UNDP Country Programme is firmly aligned with the Myanmar Sustainable Development Plan (MSDP) and it focuses on delivery of the following two outcomes:

- (i) Peace and Governance: People in Myanmar live in a more peaceful and inclusive society, governed by more democratic and accountable institutions, and benefit from strengthened human rights and rule of law protection; and
- (ii) Planet and Prosperity: Myanmar becomes more resilient to climate and disaster risk with efficient environmental governance and sustainable use of natural resources.

Under outcome Peace and Governance, the Strengthening Accountability and Rule of Law (SARL) overall goal is to strengthen accountability and the rule of law for increased trust in state institutions at a critical time in Myanmar's transition. Building on the clear initiative of all three branches of the state to promote transparency and accountability, while recognizing the challenges involved in countering corruption, strengthening parliamentary oversight, and promoting adherence to principles of administrative justice and rule of law, the project helps to strengthen institutional frameworks and capacities for good governance. The project also empowers rights holders and engages them in accountability mechanisms.

For Myanmar to continue making progress in democratic governance based on the rule of law, all three branches of government will need to be strengthened, as well as the systems that enable the three branches to work together and to act as checks and balances on each other. It also requires the justice sector institutions – most notably the Union Attorney General's Office, the police and the Judiciary – to increase their ability to coordinate better and properly redress injustices. For Myanmar's progress towards democratic governance to be inclusive and sustainable, people's experiences must also improve when seeking out essential government services, whether they are administrative in nature or involve the prosecution of criminal offences. The key challenges that need addressing are discussed below for the Executive and Legislative branches of government, and the justice sector more broadly.

The project is organized into three intervention areas: (1) Anti-Corruption, (2) Parliamentary oversight and Member of Parliament representation, (3) Rule of law and human rights. The project therefore has the following three mutually reinforcing outputs:

- Output 1: Access to public services becomes more fair, transparent and accountable through enhanced administrative systems and anti-corruption measures
- Output 2: Parliaments are better able to engage with and represent the rights and interests of the public
- Output 3: Justice sector strengthened to administer justice according to rule of law and human rights

Output 1 focuses on anti-corruption and integrity. SARL supports the Anti-Corruption Commission to lead a national effort to tackle corruption and to promote transparency and accountability. It also works with line ministries and other institutions to strengthen frameworks for improved ethics and integrity across all levels of public service and help ensure that administrative services are delivered in a fair, unbiased and non-discriminatory manner.

Output 2 focuses on parliamentary support, on which it coordinates with UNDP's Support to Effective & Responsive Institutions Project (SERIP). While SERIP concentrates on strengthening the law-making process in Union and Region & State parliaments, SARL strengthens oversight mechanisms through committee processes, and improves MPs' capacity to fully represent the interests of their constituents, especially when grievances from the constituency level are raised.

Output 3 relates to work with the UAGO, the OSCU and the MNHRC to strengthen the application of rule of law and administrative justice principles, and to promote awareness and protection of human rights. Across these areas of intervention, people will be engaged to increase their role in accountability mechanisms, administrative review and oversight processes.

Overall, SARL adopts a multi-level approach, from Union and State/Region level to community level. At the Union and State/ Region level, the project seeks to strengthen their capacity and internal accountability mechanisms so that they serve as a check and balance on each other, as proscribed in the 2008 Constitution. At community level, the project creates awareness and promotes the protection of citizen's rights, among others through civil society partnerships.

2. Current Context

As COVID-19 spreads globally, it is a massive health, humanitarian, and development crisis. Due to the pandemic, Myanmar, especially the border regions: Kachin State, Shan State and Kayin State have terrible negative impact. Due to porous border, Myanmar received the immediate return of large influx of migrant workers from China and Thailand where the largest hotspots of outbreaks exist. E.g. according to MOHS data, more than 23,000 people returned to Myanmar from Thailand via Myawaddy from March 19 to 28.

While concerns have been raised about Myanmar's capacity to manage the coronavirus given its poor healthcare infrastructure, the country's displaced populations face even greater risks. Most are trapped in dangerously overcrowded camps with severely substandard health care and inadequate access to clean water, sanitation, and other essential services. Many displaced people have underlying medical conditions and chronic diseases, putting them at high risk of suffering serious effects from the virus.

The impact of economic fluctuations related to the COVID-19 pandemic is likely to disproportionately harm poor and vulnerable households. With travel and border trade restrictions in place, the impact is in Myanmar's tourism-related services, agricultural exports to China, and in supply-chain disruptions to the manufacturing sector. Every day, people are losing jobs and income, with no way of knowing when normality will return. Myanmar's GDP growth is projected to slow to between 2 and 3 percent in the current fiscal year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, with the brunt of the outbreak's economic impact likely to be borne by poor and vulnerable households across the country according to recent world bank report.

UNDP SARL works with The Myanmar Anti-Corruption Commission, the Union Parliament and targeted Region and State parliaments, the Union Attorney General's Office, the Office of the Supreme Court of the Union, the Union Civil Service Board, and the Myanmar National Human Rights Commission etc. Because of the Covid-19 crisis, there is wide shift of their focus and priorities of these counterparts to the crisis response.

Given the current Covid-19 pandemic there is also an expectation that this will also impact and delays in UNDP programme and project implementation. However, UNDP Myanmar remains fully operational and is adapting the way it works and focused on COVID-19 response. UNDP is mobilizing all assets to respond to this unprecedented challenge. UNDP Myanmar have transitioned all critical operations to digital and virtual platforms, enabling teams to continue delivering effectively despite restrictions on movement and physical interaction. With the changing context, emerging needs and priorities UNDP Myanmar is also revisiting the Programme strategy and business processes to be more relevant to this crisis. UNDP Myanmar had conducted Programme and operational criticality exercise to review and identification of critical programme areas and activities that will continue and activities that will be postponed or canceled. Some activities are paused or downscaled and looking for opportunities to be redirected to new priorities.

UNDP globally has developed a COVID-19 response focused on three immediate priorities including health systems support, inclusive and integrated crises management and response, and social and economic impact needs assessments and response. The Myanmar Country Office is preparing its response plan building on these three priority areas and in line with the current requests and priorities of the Government of Myanmar, current Programme areas and in response to broader UN Country Team collaboration across a range of development areas. Rapid response funds are new core funds being made available by UNDP headquarters to respond to this crisis, while flexibility have also been provided to the county offices to repurpose existing core funds towards this response, if necessary. In this context, UNDP have also been advised by cost-sharing donor partners that funds can also be repurposed towards COVID response if required.

UNDP intends to fully leverage its existing programme, staff and technical capacities and most importantly partnerships at the union, state and regional levels and with the communities to roll out the response in terms of community engagement and awareness raising, strengthening local government's capacity plan, coordinate, budget and deliver essential services including to migrants and IDPs, and bolstering public health systems. With many of our partners, particularly in the local government, capacities are being enhanced to be able to work and manage remotely through online systems. UNDP is working closely with local partners that allows local solutions to COVID-19 humanitarian and development needs, to be designed together with local partners, and in coordination with the host government.

Some activities that have been identified include community and anti-stigmatization awareness, expansion of use of digital technologies, private sector engagement and corporate social responsibility, volunteerism and social cohesion, resilience and recovery, support to MSMEs as well as health systems support and socio-economic impact assessments at the sub-national levels.

UNDP Myanmar is also streamlining policies and procedures for greater agility, increasing our flexibility to receive and deliver private sector and other financing, and taking steps to initiate innovative approaches like next generation network of innovation and digital solutions across the country — a crucial institutional asset in responding to this complex, fast-moving crisis. Accelerator Lab will be sensing on-the-ground changes and sourcing local solutions for this crisis response.

Midterm Evaluations is expected to assess UNDP project performance in areas that are critical to ensuring sustained contribution to development results and the context of emerging development issues and changing priorities at the national levels. To this end, this evaluation also needs to review project strategy, focus areas, partnerships, programmatic approaches, cooperation modalities, or business models considering current crisis scenario.

3. Evaluation Purpose, Objectives and Scope

The Mid-Term Evaluation (MTE) will assess the progress towards the achievement of the project objectives and outcomes as specified in the project document and identify early signs of project success and areas for improvement that will guide the future direction of the project. The evaluation will be based on data available at the time of evaluation and discuss outputs delivered by the programme from the time of inception, June 2018, until March 2020. The primary audience for the evaluation will be the Government of Myanmar, development partners and UNDP. The secondary audience for the evaluation will be the other stakeholders.

The specific objectives of mid-term evaluation are to review and make recommendations related to;

- access to public services are more fair, transparent and accountable through enhanced administrative systems and anti-corruption measures;
- parliaments are better able to engage with and represent the rights and interests of the public;
- justice sector strengthened to administer justice according to rule of law and human rights.

- partnership arrangements with the Implementing partners put in place by the project are effective;
- cross cutting issues have been well integrated in the project
- the current organizational and institutional capacities (staffing, structure etc.) are appropriate to deliver the project results

The first stage of the MTE will be to conduct a review of the current context, building on relevant context analysis and taking into account the latest socio-economic and political developments locally as well as relevant developments at a global level since the inception of the project in 2018.

The second stage is to assess the relevance of the project to the current context, by identifying challenges and ways to overcome or mitigate them, and to provide lessons learnt taking into account the emerging national and global development priorities. The final stage will be the provision of key recommendations including improvements in performance and results, proposed adjustments to the design of the project including programmatic focus (structurally and through a revised Results and Resourced Framework) and the development of elements that can be considered to inform the planning of the next phase of the project.

5. Methodology

The evaluation will be conducted primarily to assess the progress of the project against the project document to assess against the context to provide recommendations for any adjustments to the project design, management and implementation. This evaluation will include mixed method design. The MTE must provide evidence-based information that is credible, reliable and useful. The MTE team will review all relevant sources of information including documents prepared during the preparation phase. The evaluation design will include both the qualitative and quantitative methods involving primary and secondary data collection. The MTE team is expected to follow a collaborative and participatory approach ensuring close engagement with the evaluation managers, implementing partners and direct beneficiaries.

The overall MTE will be divided into three phases:

Phase I: Evaluation Planning Phase (Virtual)

With the Covid -19 crisis, ensuring the safety of evaluation teams, Phase 1 of the MTE will be conducted virtually by the evaluator which include remote arrangements to conduct four key tasks (1) desk reviews of key documents (2) review of the current situation – context analysis (3) development and finalize inception report (4) design of evaluation tools and questionnaires.

1. Desk review of all relevant documentation. Following the introductory meetings and briefings, the evaluation team will undertake a desk review of all relevant reports and data. This should be supplied by the strategic management unit in a timely manner and all efforts made to access missing reports and data prior to the development of the inception report and the data-collection mission. This would include a review of inter alia

- MSDP, CPD and Project document
- Theory of change and results framework, including monitoring system.
- Programme and project quality assurance reports.
- Annual workplans.
- Activity designs.
- Semiannual and annual progress reports.
- Minutes of project board meetings.
- Risk matrix and mitigation measures
- Technical/financial monitoring reports.
- Donor contribution agreements and Donor reports
- Other documents

2. Context Analysis

- Development and Operational Context (2 pager): First part of context analysis will analyze the environment in which a project operates since the inception of the CPD in 2018. Context analysis mainly focuses on scanning both internal and external environment, analyzing operating environments like political, economic, social, technological developments and demographic trends related to project implementation. Context analysis will analyze how key departures due to contextual changes had impacted organization, team, strategy, project activities.
- Evolving Context (2 pager): Second part of context analysis will assess the relevance of the project to the current evolving context (e.g. Covid crisis, intercommunal conflicts, election etc.). This will support to identify challenges and ways to overcome or mitigate them, and to provide lessons learnt. This analysis will be useful for proposed adjustments to the design of the current country programme and the development of elements that can be considered to inform the planning of the next phase project cycle.

3. Evaluation Inception report (max 10 pages) to be developed. Evaluators will commence the evaluation process with a desk review and preliminary analysis of the available information supplied by the implementing agency. Based on the TOR, initial meetings with the UNDP programme unit/evaluation manager and the desk review, evaluators should develop an inception report. The description of what is being evaluated illustrates the evaluators' understanding of the logic or theory of how the initiative is supposed to work, including strategies, activities, outputs and expected outcomes and their interrelationships. It will detail how each evaluation question will be answered by way of: proposed methods; proposed sources of data; and data collection and analysis procedures taking into consideration the options available during COVID-19 restrictions. The inception report should include a proposed schedule of tasks, activities and deliverables.

The inception report provides an opportunity to clarify issues and understanding of the objective and scope of an evaluation, such as resource requirements and delivery schedules. Any identified issues or misunderstandings should be addressed at this stage and prior to any data-collection or field missions.

4. Development of evaluation questions, remote interview questionnaire focus groups guidelines and online surveys
 - a. Development of evaluation questions around relevance, effectiveness, efficiency and sustainability and designed for different stakeholders to be interviewed.
 - b. Surveys interview questionnaires focus group discussions guidelines and online survey tools to be designed and pretested.

Phase II: Validation Phase (in country or virtually)

Option 1: Virtual validation

With travel and border trade restrictions in place, it is very likely that there may or may not be able to conduct field visits and /or lack of local evaluation team members data could be collected remotely.

- For validation, skype or telephone interviews, online/mobile questionnaires, online surveys, collaboration platforms (slack or yammer) and satellite imagery could be used to gather data.
 - Remote telephone interviews with key government counterparts, representatives of key civil society organizations and implementing partners is recommended.
 - Online survey tool or one to one Zoom meetings can be organized for donor community members and UN partners.
 - Programme specific group zoom meetings can be organized for thematic programmatic and operational areas.

- Use of Partners Survey contact information: UNDP Myanmar had already collected list of all the partners contact details during 2019 partners survey. These information's can be used for virtual interviews.
- Stakeholder engagement ensures the effective communication of an evaluation and its uptake, so it is very important to do a test run and factor in emergency settings and time zone differences.
- Stakeholders that are dealing with existing emergencies should be given advance notice and an adjustment of evaluation timelines can be expected.
- UNDP Field office colleagues will assist national consultant in logistic arrangement of the virtual meetings with partners and beneficiaries.

Option 2: Onsite or face to face validation

- If situation permits, national consultant or international consultant will visit to selected field sites (if feasible)
- Undertake key informant interviews with beneficiaries, government officials, communities and other stakeholders who have been involved in implementing activities under the program and/or participated in various program activities.
- Focus Group Discussions to be held whenever appropriate (specially recommended for beneficiaries). All interviews should be undertaken in full confidence and anonymity.

Ensuring the security of consultants, stakeholders and accompanying UNDP staff, particularly in crisis situations. The evaluation team members should have passed relevant United Nations security exams and be aware of and compliant with related security protocols, including passing the United Nations Department of Safety and Security training courses on basic security in field II and advanced security in the field.

Phase III: Analysis, Debriefing and Report Writing Phase (in country or virtually)

Following field missions or data validation phase, data review and analysis of evaluation questions, surveys and questionnaires. Evaluation teams are required to ensure maximum validity, reliability of data (quality) through triangulation of the various data sources.

Prior to the drafting of the evaluation report, the evaluation team should debrief the UNDP project/programme and management teams with preliminary findings. Debriefings with key stakeholders and the evaluation reference group may also be organized virtually or face to face where possible. This gives an opportunity to discuss preliminary findings and address any factual errors or misunderstandings, prior to writing the evaluation report.

At a time of social distancing, social media can help bridge the gap. Social platforms like yammer, teams etc can be formed to enable connecting, networking and engaging with target audiences such as donors, partners, and decision makers. This will be valuable to drive discussions, increase accessibility and amplify reach to key evaluation stakeholders.

A quality evaluation report should:

- Have a concise executive summary (maximum four pages).

- Be well structured and complete.
- Describe what is being evaluated and why.
- Identify the evaluation questions of concern to users.
- Identify target groups covered by the evaluation and whether the needs of the target groups were addressed through the intervention, and if not, why.
- Explain the steps and the procedures used to answer those questions.
- Present findings supported by credible evidence in response to the questions.
- Acknowledge limitations and constraints in undertaking the evaluation.
- Draw conclusions about findings based on of the evidence.
- Propose concrete and usable recommendations derived from conclusions.
- Be written with the report users and how they will use the evaluation in mind.

6. Evaluation Products (Deliverables)

The evaluation team will be accountable for producing following Deliverables/Expected outputs. These products include:

Deliverables	Payments
Evaluation Inception report (max 10 pages). The inception report should be carried out following and based on preliminary discussions with UNDP after the desk review and should be produced before the evaluation starts (before any formal evaluation interviews, survey distribution or field visits) and prior to the country visit in the case of international evaluators. It should detail the evaluators' understanding of what is being evaluated and why, showing how each evaluation question will be answered by way of: proposed methods; proposed sources of data; and data collection and analysis procedures. The inception report should include a proposed schedule of tasks, activities and deliverables, designating a team member with the lead responsibility for each task or product. The inception report provides the programme unit and the evaluators with an opportunity to verify that they share the same understanding about the evaluation and clarify any misunderstanding at the outset.	25 percent

This evaluation will be conducted in accordance with the principles outlined in the UNEG 'Ethical Guidelines for Evaluation'.⁷ The consultant must safeguard the rights and confidentiality of information providers, interviewees and stakeholders through measures to ensure compliance with legal and other relevant codes governing collection of data and reporting on data. The consultant must also ensure security of collected information before and after the evaluation and protocols to ensure anonymity and confidentiality of sources of information where that is expected. The information knowledge and data gathered in the evaluation process must also be solely used for the evaluation and not for other uses with the express authorization of UNDP and partners.
