Evaluation Recommendation or Issue 1: When UNDP projects are implemented in a crisis or post-conflict operating environment, with a limited window of opportunity to respond to immediate needs of the government and communities, fast-track or specialized recruitment procedures are needed in order to ensure the effectiveness and timeliness of such projects.

Management Response: At the time of implementing the project, UNDP TL didn't qualify for fast track procedures. Hence the project team had to go through normal finalizing certain recruitments recruitment procedures. Moreover, the specific language requirements (Tetum) have limited the pool of potential candidates drastically and led to some delays in

Evaluation Recommendation or Issue 2: In order to clarify expectations about timelines related to the start and implementation of future UNDP projects, PDs should contain a realistic start-up phase which includes the mobilization of resources, staffing of the project and development of implementation processes/frameworks to proceed the implementation phase of a project

Management Response: Agreed in principle but in case of post-conflict situations and the need for urgent action, this is not always possible that can be applied and integrated into the design of future PDs and activities but also progress made towards achieving project/programme objectives and outcomes. In this regard, UNDP's ROAR provides an important M&E framework continuous basis and incorporated into ongoing project implementation. It is also important that M&E frameworks measure and assess not only achievement of outputs Evaluation Recommendation or Issue 3: It is important for future projects to develop an M&E Plan early on so that results/findings from monitoring are identified on a situation on the ground and the need to develop in parallel the capacity of the social mobilisers to respond accordingly influenced the time-frame of finalising implementation framework. The PD included indicators and targets that were developed as implementation progressed to suit the changing reality on the ground Management Response: Agreed in principle. The M&E framework was developed once the implementation framework was fine-tuned and agreed with MSS. Responsible order to establish a further baseline for community capacity to resolve conflict activities conducted through the SERC Project. For the new MSS Peace-Building Department, it will be important to conduct a mapping of all the trainings that were held in Evaluation Recommendation or Issue 11: During community consultations the evaluator was informed about a number of conflict resolution training seminars conducted for communities by NGOs. These seminars indirectly contributed towards the sustained results of the Dialogue Teams and served as a useful complement to stabilization
