

UN VOLUNTEER DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENT

DEUR000019--Gender Capacity Development Specialist

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme is the UN organization that promotes volunteerism to support peace and development worldwide. Volunteerism can transform the pace and nature of development and it benefits both society at large and the individual volunteer. UNV contributes to peace and development by advocating for volunteerism globally, encouraging partners to integrate volunteerism into development programming, and mobilizing volunteers. In most cultures volunteerism is deeply embedded in long-established, ancient traditions of sharing and support within the communities. In this context, UN Volunteers take part in various forms of volunteerism and play a role in development and peace together with co-workers, host agencies and local communities. In all assignments, UN Volunteers promote volunteerism through their action and conduct. Engaging in volunteer activity can effectively and positively enrich their understanding of local and social realities, as well as create a bridge between themselves and the people in their host community. This will make the time they spend as UN Volunteers even more rewarding and productive.

We are inspiration in action

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme is administered by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

Organizational Context & Project Description

The United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) Resolution E/2011/6 notes the need for assessment of staff vis-à-vis gender equality and the empowerment of women as UN staff need the capacity to fulfil the UN's gender mandate. Furthermore, the UN System-wide Action Plan (UN-SWAP) Framework – a method in which UN entities report on progress towards achieving gender mainstreaming – includes a performance indicator to emphasize the need for an assessment as the first step to enhancing capacity.

As a UN entity, UNV is committed to promote gender equality and the empowerment of women. Therefore, a UNV-specific gender equality capacity assessment and capacity development strategy are integral to reflect UNV's mandate and learning needs of all staff, including senior managers. This, in turn, will play a foundational role of providing adequate gender-related capacities at all levels to drive progress in mainstreaming gender throughout the organization.

Deploying more than 7.000 UN Volunteers annually across the UN system UNV holds a responsibility and opportunities to support the professional development of volunteers. Gender and diversity being a priority for UNV, the organization will also increase its effort to raise awareness and skills of UN Volunteers related to Gender and Diversity.

Sustainable Development Goals

5. Gender Equality

Task description

Within the delegated authority and under the supervision of the Special Assistant to the Executive Coordinator and under the matrix supervision of the Team Lead, Capacity Development), the UN Volunteer Gender Capacity Development Specialist will:

- Conduct a gender equality capacity assessment exercise including through survey, interviews and focus group discussions, to determine levels of gender knowledge and understanding across UNV staff;
- Conduct a desk review of volunteer learning programmes and UNV volunteer learning approach to determine entry points for increasing gender and diversity related knowledge and skills among UN Volunteers globally.
- Based on the results of the capacity assessment exercise, develop a comprehensive gender training and capacity development strategy and an action plan for UNV staff and UN Volunteers;
- Design and implement a Gender and Diversity component for UNV's onboarding package for all UNV staff;
- Design a volunteer learning path on gender for all UN Volunteers;
- Produce gender and diversity training materials for staff and volunteers; and
- Deliver gender and diversity related training face-to-face as well as via webinars and other means.

Furthermore, UN Volunteers are required to:- Strengthen their knowledge and understanding of the concept of volunteerism by reading relevant UNV and external publications and take active part in UNV activities (for instance in events that mark International Volunteer Day)- Be acquainted with and build on traditional and/or local forms of volunteerism in the host country- Provide annual and end of assignment reports on UN Volunteer actions, results and opportunities using UNV's Volunteer Reporting Application- Contribute articles/write-ups on field experiences and submit them for UNV publications/websites, newsletters, press releases, etc.- Assist with the UNV Buddy Programme for newly-arrived UN Volunteers- Promote or advise local groups in the use of online volunteering, or encourage relevant local individuals and organizations to use the UNV Online Volunteering service whenever technically possible.

Conditions of Service for International Specialist:

The contract lasts for the period indicated above with possibility of extensions subject to availability of funding, operational necessity and satisfactory performance. However, there is no expectation of renewal of the assignment.

A UN Volunteer receives a Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) which is composed of the Monthly Living Allowance (MLA) and a Family Allowance (FA) for those with dependents (maximum three).

The Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) is paid at the end of each month to cover housing, utilities, transportation, communications and other basic needs. The VLA can be computed by applying the Post-Adjustment Multiplier (PAM) to the VLA base rate of US$ 1,631. The VLA base rate is a global rate across the world, while the PAM is duty station/country-specific and fluctuates on a monthly basis according to the cost of living. This method ensures that international UN Volunteers have comparable purchasing power at all duty stations irrespective of varying costs of living. The PAM is established by the International Civil Service Commission (ICSC) and is published at the beginning of every month on the ICSC website <http://icsc.un.org>.

For UN Volunteer entitlements, kindly refer to the link <https://vmam.unv.org/calculator/entitlements>

In non-family duty stations that belong to hardship categories D or E, as classified by the ICSC, international UN Volunteers receive a Well-Being Differential (WBD) on a monthly basis.

Furthermore, UN Volunteers are provided a settling-in-grant (SIG) at the start of the assignment (if the volunteer did not reside in the duty station for at least 6 months prior to taking up the assignment) and in the event of a permanent reassignment to another duty station.

UNV provides life, health, permanent disability insurances as well as assignment travel, annual leave, full integration in the UN security framework (including residential security reimbursements).

UN Volunteers are paid Daily Subsistence Allowance at the UN rate for official travels, flight tickets for periodic home visit and for the final repatriation travel (if applicable). Resettlement allowance is paid for satisfactory service at the end of the assignment.

UNV will provide, together with the offer of assignment, a copy of the Conditions of Service, including Code of conduct, to the successful candidate.

Supervision, induction and duty of care of UN Volunteers

UN Volunteers should be provided equal duty of care as extended to all host entity personnel. Host entity support to the UN Volunteer includes, but is not limited to:

- Introductory briefings about the organisation and office-related context including security, emergency procedures, good cultural practice and orientation to the local environment;
- Support with arrival administration including setting-up of bank accounts, residence permit applications and completion of other official processes as required by the host government or host entity;
- Structured guidance, mentoring and coaching by a supervisor including a clear workplan and performance appraisal;
